ARTICLE IV
BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Section 4.01 – General Powers The affairs of the Corporation shall be managed by its Board of Directors. Each member of the Corporation shall serve on the Board of Directors. The Board of Directors shall have power and authority to negotiate or designate agents to negotiate all of the business transactions, receive all receipts and make all disbursements, and to create any such additional departments, associations, institutions, programs, and/or any and all such other vehicles established or instituted by the Corporation.

However, any Director/member may be removed from the Corporation at any special meeting called for the purpose, with or without cause, by an affirmative vote of seventy-five percent (75%) of the Board of Directors. Further, consequences for noncompliance with any board policies may result in immediate dismissal as a member of the Board of Directors. Board member wishing to continue serving as a Board Member after two consecutive terms (six years) must roll off of the Board for at least one year. After which, member may serve one additional term (three years). Board of Directors may choose to vote a board member who term has expired to join the Advisory Council.

Section 4.03 – Resignation A Director/member may resign by giving written notice to the Secretary of the Corporation which notice shall be immediately forwarded to the Board of Directors. Unless otherwise specified in the resignation, the resignation shall take effect upon receipt by the Secretary, and the acceptance of the resignation shall not be necessary to make it effective.

Section 4.04 – Board Nomination and Recruitment Process Potential board members are recruited based on priorities set by the board. Priorities for new candidates are determined based on the strengths of current board members compared with the qualities and characteristics needed in new members. The FVRI Board Development Matrix is used to assist the board with this task.

Once priorities for membership have been established, potential candidates are recruited. Candidates are recruited in a number of ways; board member or staff recommendations, Volunteer United and RSVP Volunteer recruitment organizations, FVRI mailings, and word of mouth. Potential candidates are selected based on their community connections (i.e. whether they have assets in the arenas: corporate, social, philanthropic, media, professional, religious, educational, and/or local community), personal qualities (i.e. willingness to work, leadership capabilities, commitment to mission), work style (collegial, visionary, practical), areas of expertise, and demographic diversity (e.g. age, gender, race, education).

Representatives from the Board Development Committee contact potential candidates to set up a series of interviews. Candidates are interviewed in 3 phases. Phase I is the initial informal interview. During Phase I, candidates are interviewed by at least 2 members of the Board Development Committee at an informal location. During this initial conversation, board members get to know the potential candidate, i.e. their values, beliefs, aspirations, motivations, passions, and etc. Board members also inform the candidate about the organization including the vision, mission, needs, programs, and etc. After this initial conversation the Board Development Committee decides whether the candidate moves to the next phase or not. If they determine that the candidate is not a good fit, a letter is sent to notify them of the committee's determination. If the committee deems that the candidate should move to the next application phase, the candidate is also notified.

Phase II is the first formal interview. Candidates are interviewed by at least 3 members of the Board Development Committee. The discussion during this interview is centered on candidates' professionalism, skill set, employment and leadership history. During this phase candidates complete the FVRI Board of Directors Application. Pending the results of the interview, references, and background check, candidates are either notified that they have been moved to the next phase or that they are not a good fit for the organization.

Phase III is the final interview, also conducted by at least 3 members of the Board Development Committee. Candidates' commitment, board and candidates' expectations, and potential conflicts of interest are discussed during this interview. At the completion of this interview, development committee members determine whether the board should consider the candidate's application or if the candidate is not a good fit. The candidate is once again notified of the committee's decision.

If the committee determines that the candidate should be considered for board adoption, all of the information gathered during the selection process is discussed at a regular or call board meeting. The candidate is accepted or rejected at this meeting. After the board's determination, the candidate is informed in writing of the board's decision. New board members begin the orientation process and are issued the New Members Board Packet and any other information designed to educate them about their role and the organization.

Section 4.05 – Meetings, Attendance, And Participation The Board shall have power and authority to hold quarterly meetings (4 meetings per year). The quarterly meetings, when held, shall take place on the third (3rd) Tuesday of the month. A Board member may have the option to participate by phone or any other method of communication in the event of unusual circumstances. A Board Member is required to attend and participate in at least seventy-five percent (75%) of the regular meetings per year, financially contribute to organization, and attend and assist with all fund raising events. Noncompliance or an unsatisfactory board evaluation may lead to being asked by the Board of Directors to resign.

If mailed, such notice shall be deemed to be delivered when deposited in the United States mail so addressed with postage thereon prepaid. Such notice shall specify the purpose of the meeting and, unless all Directors consent to consider other matters, only the matters so stated shall be considered. Any Director may waive notice of any meeting. The attendance of a Director at any meeting shall constitute a waiver of notice of such meeting, except where a Director attends a meeting for the express purpose of objecting to the transaction of any business because the meeting is not lawfully called or convened.

Section 4.08 – Quorum The presence of a majority of the Board of Directors shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business at any meeting of the Board. At the first instance and every time hereafter, all instances of the word “majority” will mean “majority (75%)”. The voting members present at a duly organized meeting shall constitute a quorum, and may continue to do business until adjournment, notwithstanding the withdrawal of enough members to leave less than a quorum or the refusal of any member present to vote. If a meeting cannot be organized for lack of a quorum, those present may continue to discuss business and make recommendations for future actions to be approved and voted on when a board meeting with a quorum can be assembled. This meeting may be the next standard board meeting or called board meeting.

Section 4.09 – Manner of Acting The act of a majority of the Directors present at a meeting at which a quorum is present shall be the act of the Board of Directors, unless the act of a greater number is required by law or by these By-Laws.

Section 4.10 – Compensation Directors as such shall not receive any stated salaries for their services, but by resolution of the Board of Directors, a fixed sum and expenses of attendance, if any, may be allowed for attendance at each regular or special meeting of the Board. Nothing in these By-Laws shall be construed to preclude a Director from serving the Corporation in any other capacity and receiving reasonable compensation for such service.

Section 4.11 – Informal Action by Directors Any action required by law to be taken at a meeting of Directors, or any action which may be taken at a meeting of Directors, may be taken without a meeting if a consent in writing setting forth the action so taken shall be signed by all of the Directors.
